The Position of a Free Trade Organ.

The Commercial finding that to answer

THE WHIG'S application of Mr. Gibson's interview to the boot and shoe industry of Bangor would lead it into deep water, cautiously refrains from a further discussion of commercial union with Canada and contents itself with the remark that there is free trade in labor which therefore receives no benefit from the tariff. We have so often exploded this specious argument that it seems a waste of space to refer to it again, but it appears to be all that our free trade contemporary has to offer. The position of the Commercial reduced to its true level would seem to be that because a few Canadians drift into this State by reathe barrier that protects us from the free influx of Canadian products, the effect of mercial union) would place his own price on the mercial including this products. the manufacturers, who, by reason of thus force our wages down to the Canadian standard. That is a charming prespect for the labors of Maine. This cry of the Democratic party furthermore is entirely dishonest for us is shown by the Commercial what they seek is not the protection of the laboring classes by a fishermen'engaged in this business for their restriction of immigration, but a removal living; they are the poor people who live of all tariff restrictions so that our work- in the coves and bays along the rocky with the cheap labor of foreign countries, ington, American vessels went to with That this is understood by the laboring their immense seines to take herring or men is shown by their enthusiastic support squid for bait to carry to the immense of the grinciples of protection. Canada's Opportunity.

The Bangon White fails to find any reference in the recently published interview with Mr. Alexander Gibson, printed in the St. John Telegraph, to advantages that may accrue to the United States from commercial union. Of course there is no such reference. Mr. Gibson was seeking to convince Canadians, and pointed out the advantages to them. So The Wite gleefully accepts him as authority. If he had pointed out the advantages to our people THE White would have discredited him and warned its readers not to trust to the words of an enemy.—Portland Argus

The above paragraph, the burden of

The above paragraph, the burden of which seems to be that had Mr. Gibsor sald something entirely different from what he did say THE WHIG would have shaped its comments accordingly, is indeed a brilliant effusion. The very fact that Mr. Gibson was talking to the Canadians is what lends additional importance to his utterances. He let himself right out, inutterances. He let misself right out, instead of mineing his words, and while IN ANDREWS' HALL.

'convincing' the people of that Province that a community with the c that commercial union would be "a great blessing to Canada," he also showed very conclusively that it would be anything but a diesting to the States. Why should not The Wine accept him as authority on this question? He is one of the foremost business men of the Province and is in a position to understand, the advantages Canada would reap from "unrestricted trade" with the States. When he talks of the advantages liable to accrue to the States from this arrangement there will be ample opportunity to meet such an argument, but in the meantime it should be constantly kept in mind that the advantages so foreibly set forth by Mr. Gibson and which seem to cause the advocates of commercial union on this side of the line so much trouble are every one on the side of Canada. The Argus and Commercial have joined forces on this question, but to date the sum total of their efforts seem to have been to show the people of this State that commercial union with Canada is the last thing they want. Pier 15. East River, Ne he Commercial made a feeble attempt to break the force of THE WHIG's comments on Mr. Gibson's interview, but when we Bangor and Bay and River Ports, brought the matter right home to Bangor's hoot and shoe industry, it conveniently concluded to drop the question.

An Appeal for the Fishermen.

The President of the National Fishery Association, Mr. F. J. Babson, of Massachusetts, has an able letter in the New York Tribune that is of special interest at this time. Mr. Babson says: "Canada at the time of the Revolution had an opportunity to join with the other colonies in becoming a part of this great nation. She not only failed to do this, but became the rendezvous of armies and fleets for our subjugation and the home of the Tory element that deserted the American cause The war of 1812 again saw from her territory and harbors the enemy waging war against us. The rebellion of 1861 to '64 found her just as friendly and troops were stationed at St. Albans and along the border to prevent hostile raids, while her barbors swarmed with bockade runners and enemies to the Union. All that the United States has achieved as a people and United States has achieved as a people and SIX PER CENT. Industrial development, has been accomplished against the opposition of Great Britain and Canada, never by their aid or

"And now having grown to wealth and power, and a population of over 60,000,000, having the best market for consumption in the world, we find Great Britain and Canada anxious for us once more to resume our colonial relations and be one country so far as commercial relations are concerned. England has reached the culmination of natural resources at home, and to keep pace with the United States must go pace with the United States must go ACCOUNTS AND CLAIMS. policy of development and progress must be largely external. Great Britain is an island, the United States a continent. Consequently with our boundless resources as yet hardly touched, our system is that of internal increase and progress. Now, are the people of the United States willing to build up foreign industries of the same character as our own by giving them our Shawis! Shawis! Shawis! Shawis! free markets by which their cheaper labor will be able to drive out the products of American labor, or reduce the price of American labor to the foreign standard?

"The petty question (so called) of the fisheries in their practical sense has nothing whatever to do with the present controversy. American ashermen take no A First-Class Job Printer fish in British waters nor do they desire wanted at the Whig a Courier Job Office.

The Halifax award was one of the most outrageous frauds ever perpetrated on any nation; the fifty millions would be of the same charonly more stupid. The commercial rights of vessels of the United States under treaties and mutual legislation in British ports is the question; it has nothing to do with practical fishing. Our vessels go WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1887. into Canadian ports to buy certain articles under documents issued by the United States empowering them to do so, they are refused commercial rights, and subjected to unfust penalties and fines, while Canadian vessels have every commercial privilege afforded them in American ports. Mutual legislation has made these rights reciprocal. If Canada refuses them to our vessels, our Government should refuse them to Canadian vessels. This is the unanimous verdict of Congress and is today the law of the land. Instead of its ex-FRANCIS H. CLERGUE, President.

"The history of the fisheries show that under no treaty or commercial union can the balt fisheries of Canada and Newfoundland be transferred to American fishermen They are a shore and boat fishery, and they are the sole dependence of the local people as one man rose up and fought; destroyed the seines and threatened the lives of the American fishermen.

American vessel sought to take balt ina dozen in the House about to convene, recognizing the justic of the people's claim stead of buying it, trouble occured, until and the injustice of any attempt to convey these bait fisheries away from the poor fishermen of the coast by reciprocity or treaty, the American fishermen bought what they needed, saving the poor unrepresented people from the outrage their own government would subject them to. Canada has nothing that the United States does not produce in abundance. Commercial union or reciprocity would simply bring British capital to Canada to operate Taxes for 1887.

The Case of Thomas Callan.

Lowell, Nov 29. A letter was received to-night from Secretary Bayard in answer to a request from Mayor Abbott that the government take steps to protect Thomas Callan, of this city, arrested in London on suspicion of being a dynamiter. Mr. Bayard says the Department of State has no other information than that contained in the newspapers. The department is wholly without authority to apply for a stay of proceedings, pending the investigation, as requested, except to seeme a fair trial under the laws. The Department would have no right to interfere unless to prevent arbitrary treatment or a denial of justice. Beyond this a foreign government would not be permitted to interfere in similar proceedings in courts in this country.

The decision by the general term affirming the conviction is riversed and 1 new trial ordered. The judgment of the Low-er Court is reversed on the ground; that the enactment of section 78 of the ponal code is constitutional, and that the protection afforded by that section renders erroneous admission upon Sharp's trial of his evidence before the Senate committee, which evidence was held to have been given on compulsion. The admission of the testimony of a clerk in the Legislature is also held to have been an error. Another error was also found in the examination of ex-Alderman Miller. The court has been decision in the sharp case and ordered a new trial.

His Lovely Record as Given by Himself.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. Herr Most testified in hi own behalf to-day. He denied making any threats or asking any person to do violence. Witness said that Schultz was chairman of the meeting and not Schenck. The prisoner said he had been convicted of treason in Austria in 1889 and had been imprisoned one year. In 1870 he was again convicted in that country of the same crime and got a flue years' sentence but gained his liberty in 1871, through the unnesty granted to political prisoners. In 1872 he was sentenced to one years' imprisonment in Berlin for calling the Emperor of Germany a "slaughterer."

In 1874 he was sentenced for one year and six months for a speech made in Berlin on the recording derect the Emilian and six months for a speech made in Berlin on the memorial day of the Paris com-mune. In 1877 he was sentenced in Berlin to two months' imprisonment for hus-phemy. In 1831 he was sentenced in Eng-land to eighteen months for application; in the "Freiheit" the killing of the Czar, When he got out of prison he came to this country and has since remained hero.

The verdict created considerable surprise as the prevailing impression had been that the evidence was insufficient. The Judge's charge also was considered to be in Most's favor.

Mr. Howe moved for a new trial. The argument on the motion will be heard Monday. The sentence was deferred.

In moving for a new trial Mr. Howe said he believed the evidence in regard to Most's having written books on dynamite methods caused the adverse verdict. He ous causen the adverse verdet. He thought the evidence improperly admitted. Mr. Howe privately intimates that he may move to set aside the verdict on the ground that one of the jury spled on Most, and asked the witnesses questions, showing that he was playing the part of detective as well as juror.

THE RUSH TO CALIFORNIA.

Susiness of the Southern Routes Thereto Un

A Herald reporter had a chat Monday morning with a prominent railroad man, who said: The southern routes to California are doing a tremendous business in who said: The southern routes to Callfornia are doing a tremendous business in passenger traffic. It is unprecedented in the history of these roads. The passengers are generally tourists, but there are enough emigrants to warrant a boom in California, as well as increasing the future earnings of the transcontinents! roads. The Auchison, Topcka & Santa Fe roud, beside being blocked with freight, is aimost blocked with passengers. Every first class train goes out in three sections and it is a strong pull on the rolling stock of that company, let alone the engines that are pressed into service. This movement is a healthy one and angurs well.

affective and any one and angurs well.

Affective are used in the passenger traffic, and a new order of 200 locomotives is being filled at the rate of three a day, and still they are not happy. The Southern and Central and Union Pacific roads are carrying 1000 persons a day into California, which, with the other routes, traffic will last three months, and, at that rate, 180,000 will have been carried to the Golden Gate. If one-third stop there they will create freight, and the tariffs, both to and from will be an uninistakable boom in the carnings of these roads, which will boister them up and make their stock worth several points more than at present. The figures that I have given may appear exaggerated, but they are justified by the facts. I know of no stocks more safe for speculative purposes, or to hold for dividends, than these same Pacific roads.

Dexter, Rarus and Pickard are now in the city stable. Dexter has reached the venerable age of twenty bine. He is drying up with age, but his general health is good, and he eats as well as he ever did. He is not required to do any work. In Mr. Bonner's own language "I simply give him walking exercise, and keep him for the good he has done."

Dexter is a son of Rysdy's Hambletonian, out of Clara, by Seciy's American Star. He was foaled in 1858 and bred by Jonathan Hawkins, of Orange Country. New York. He was the greatest horse of his day, both in speed and endurance, and a few years after Mr. Bonner, purchased him he trotted a mile to a road wagon.
